FUNSTON TO SUE FOR LIBEL.

IRELAND'S STATEMENTS.

[A. P. DAY REPORT.]

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 1.—A special to the Star from Albuquerque, N. M., says that Gen. Frederick Funston, who is en route home with the mustered-out Twentieth Kansas Regiment, has asked his Kansas City attorneys, Gleed

Ware & Gleed, to commence proceedings against Archbishop Ireland of St. Paul for criminal libel, because of statements attributed to the archbishop in a recent interview.

Gen. Funston also instructed his lawyers to begja criminal and civil prosecutions against the Monitor, a Catholic paper of San Francisco, which first printed the story.

In a recent interview in Chicago Archbishop Ireland was quoted as saying that Gen. Funston had been charged with looting Catholic churches in the Philippines. The charges alleged to have been referred to by the archbishop were made by the editor of the Monitor, soon after the landing of the Kansas troops in San Francisco.

The Monitor stated, it is said, that Gen. Funston had taken two magnificent chalices from a certain Catholic church in the Philippines, and had sent them home to his wife. Archbishop Ireland, in his Chicago interview, was quoted as calling upon Gen. Funston to deny the truth of the article and sue the editor of the Monitor for libel, or the public would be obliged, against its will, to believe him guilty of the criminal acts of which he has been accused.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(By Exclusive Dispatch.) A meeting was held this afternoon in the office of C. P. Huntington, No. 150 Broad street, at which time were present, besides Huntington, Gen. Thomas H. It was understood that matters relating to the Southern Pacific Railroad and Pacific Improvement Company were considered. Huntington denied the re port that the sale of Mrs. Stanford's stock to the Huntington-Speyer interests was discussed.

"The meeting," he said, "related to an adjustment of the accounts be-tween the different interests."

STRAIGHTFORWARD LETTER FROM GEN. HENDERSON.

The Next Speaker of the House of Representatives Reiterates His Oftrepeated View That the Man Who Opposes the Great Waterway is Behind the Age.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] For several days past there have been reports in Washington that there would be opposition to the election of Gen. D. B. Henderson as Speaker of the next House of Repre-sentatives, on account of his alleged opposition to the Nicaragua Canal, and also opposition from the A.P.A. element of the Republican party. attention was given to the A.P.A. part of the opposition, but Gen. Henderson's attitude as to the canal became a matter of great concern, because it was not known here.

Henderson at his home in Dubuque, Iowa, setting forth completely the stories which had been set affoat in Washington by certain members of Congress, and asked for a statement. This reply

Dispatch.] Fac. Irribune's London spe-cial, dated November 2, says a strong reaction has set in against the depres-sion caused by the British reverse at Ladysmith. Gen. White's report has convinced everybody that the stampede of mules was the immediate cause, of the dispatch since it deprived for Carlhe disaster, since it deprived Col. Carl. on's column of guns and reserve am-nunition. The left wing was not lured into ambuscade, but was forced to halt and hold its ground under adverse circumstances, fighting bravely-and des-perately until the last cartridge was

The reproach attaching to the surrender of so large a body of soldiers oses its sting when the story of their eroic stand against an overwhelming force is told. Ladysmith, moreover, has been reinforced, and Gen. White has no intention of abandoning its defense, even if communication with the coast is menaced and his position is not one that is naturally defensible.

The government is also making a brave display of energy. There was a brief session of the Cabinet vesterday, followed by a meeting of the Defense Committee: which Lord Wolsley at-tended. Measures were discussed for tending a large body of reinforcements to the Cape without delay. The first pattalions of the army corps will arrive at Cape Town early fiest week.

The news from Ladysmith at mid-night was meager, with barely more than vague rumors of the renewal of the artillery duel in which the naval guns bore so conspicuous a part. Gen. White continues the chief fig-ure of the hour. Much sympathy is naturally felt for the man with a heroic the Earl of Kimberley called him-en-gaged in a task which might tax the best strategic talent of the continent. In clubs and military circles feeling is stirred up in favor of one whose chiv-alrous frankness has caused the Paris Figure to say that Gen. White writes and speaks like one of the herbes of ancient Greece, though men here prefer to add that Gen. White behaves like an English gentleman.

Military writers in all morning jour-nals discuss the technical questions raised by White's report of the disaster narked diversity of opinion respecting There is a complete agreement resuspicion that there were Boer hands shind the howlders which rolled down center an abandoned hill where guns had been fired and hus lured White on mile after mile without offering battle. WHITE ON THE SURRENDER. NOT DISHONORABLE.

LONDON, Nov. 1,—[By Atlantic Cable.] The British War office today made public a dispatch received from Gen. White, describing the operations Monday. It follows:

of the Royal Artillery, the Natal field battery and two brigades of infantry, to reconnoider in force the enemy's main position to the north, and if the opportunity should after, to capture the hull behind Farquiar's farm, which had on the previous day been held in strength by the enemy. In connection with this advance, a column consisting of the Tenth Mounted Artillery, four and a half companies of the Gloucesters and six companies of the Royal Irish Fusileers, the whole under Ldeut. The enemy then pressed to short range, the losses on our side becoming very numerous.

disaster at Ladysmith was in a measure relieved by today's story giving an account of the heroic stand made by the decimated battalions until their last cartridges were gore.

The British nerve was momentarily shaken by Gen. White's use of the word "capitulate's in his first telegram, but now that it is known that the Gloucesters and Fusileers fought against overwhelming odds and upheld the best traditions of the British army, the tension has been relieved since there is no longer any ground to dread that the loss of life was accompanied by dishonor. The tidings of the severe losses incurred by the Gloucester Regiment and the Irish Fusileers are discussed most seriously by English Afrikanders and those. Englishmen, who know South Africa from within, One expression of opinion I quote from a prominent leader:

"In my view, the rumor of this defeat, diligently spread and exagger ated as it will be by assiduous Boer agents in every village of Capé Colony, must entirely outweigh the moral effect of earlier British victories upon defects in the plan of action as to a misfortune whereby the column was deprived of its ammunition. Still, it seems incomprehensible why the plight of the luckless column was not known at headquarters, as the scene of the surfrender was only about three miles northwest of Ladysmith, and Lieut.-Col. Carlton must have expected relief, or instead of attempting to retain a defensive position, he would have retracted his steps to Ladysmith when he suffered the loss of his ammunition.

The concluding sentence of Gen. The concluding sentence of Ladysmith was received here with a certain reserve, in view of the fact that similar official assurances were given recently at Dundee and Glencoe, and there is intense anxiety for news of the renewed attack. The calamity has served to alarm the British and their friends. The napers comment on the splendid reserve of patriotism existing in the far-away colonies, and the deep scated feeling of friendship and sympathy of the great kindred nation across the Atlantic.

TROOPS FOR SERVICE.

TROOPS FOR SERVICE.

[A. P. Night REPORT.]

LONDON, Nov. 1.—It was reported at Aldershot today that another complete army division will forthwith be formed for service in South Africa. The division consists of 10,000 men and fifty-four guns. This is probably a preliminary step toward a calling out of a second army corps.

A prominent military man said yesterday:

No defensive position can be considered safe unless it commands a broad, level country, with no high points for many "miles, where guns can be mounted against the intreachments. Antwerp' is the most defensible town in Europe for this reason. Ladysmith is not defensible at all, since the Boerguns can be mounted from the high ground in three concentric circles and brought to bear against the British camp. Neither Ladysmith nor Glencoe ought ever to have been occupied, but some position south of the Tugela, or nearer the sea. In the same way neither Rhodesia nor Mafeking nor Kimberley should have been defended, but a strong position taken south of the Orange River.

'In attempting to hold on to too many points before adequate reinforcements could arrive, the British staff has exposed itself to the risk of serious defeats. The best thing that can be done now will be to order out a second army corps. Indeed, in my opinion, a force of 150,000 men will be required before the two republics can be conquered and held."

army corps. Indeed, in my opinion, a force of 150,000 men will be required before the two republies can be conquered and held."

This is so pessimistic an opinion that the correspondent is compelled to hold-back the name of the critic, although he is one of the pfuckiest and most brilliant soldiers in Europe.

A German nobleman with a name famous in military history, who knows South Africa intimately, remarked that it was amazing to those familiar with the surrounding country that Lady-smith should have been defended at all. He also asserted that Pietermaritzburg could not be successfully defended either, although it was nearer the coast and far safer than Ladysmith. The only safe line of defense, he added, was Durban, and tife British should either have abandoned Natal, at least beyond Pietermaritzburg, and have made its base secure with an entire line of communications, or else have occupied Laing's Neck, the only frontier position where the Boers might easily enough have been repelled.

When asked whether such action would not have provoked war, this distinguished authority answered:

"I have no patience with the manner in which England permits herself to lose her advantages out of deference to insincere foreign criticisms. Laing's Neck was British soil, and what was to prevent the occupation of its own territory? Instead of taking possession of that natural stronghold, she chose a weaker line of defense for the sake of appearances, with this reverse she has not reconciled a single foreign enemy by this policy, for French and Russians still Insist that Chamberlain provoked the war, although it is notorious that the Boers were getting ready for hostilities hourly.

"In a similar position Germany would have put her foot dowfflie years ago, and if she had not annexed the opuntry would have rendered the importation of arms impossible. The skill and courage of Gen. White and the British officers are perfect. It is the whole scheme of defense which is at fault. Especially worthy of censure are the defective prepar

"In my view, the rumor of this de-feat, diligently spread and exagger-ated as it will be by assiduous Boer agents in every village of Capé Col-ouy, must entirely outweigh the moral effect of earlier British victories upon the Cape Dutch. Even if one could reach them and proclaim the precise truth as industriously as those agent reach them and proclaim the precise truth as industriously as those agents publish distortions, it would be impossible by citing anything short of entire capitulation of the Boer forces to counteract the effect of the news that so large a number of British are in the hands of the Boers."

Apart from Gen. White's statement that the losses are very numerous, there is nothing to indicate the extent of them, except a vague report that the soldier who brought the news to Ladysmith said the British dead and wounded were lying in heaps, and that hundreds needed doctors. This, however is hardly borne out by the long list of captured officers. MORE GUNS, ENGAGED.

The Earl of Selbourne, Under Secretary of the Colonies, speaking at Dumfries, said: "It is not the fault of the statesmen of the Transvaal that we have not become embroiled with some European, power. If nostilities had not come when they did, they would have come at some moment of national danger and difficulty."

Baron Tweedmouth, former Parliamentary Secretary of the Treasury, speaking at Edinburgh, said: "The public mind has not been so moved since the news of the dreadful events of the Indian mutiny. We unfortunately are warring with a hation of the same stock and religion as ourselves. At this crisis all hearts go out to the brave Boers and to the small British army in Natal, which against fearful odds has performed magnificent features of valor. It is not the time to call our opponents names or to utter cries of vengeance, but to back up Her Majesty's ministers who haye, a fearful, yes, an awful, responsibility upon their shoulders."

The Earl of Lonsdale, honorary colonel of the Third Battalion, border regiment, at a banquet this evening at White Haven, declared his confidence in Statal, and predicted a grand review in Pretoria next March.

Referring to Emperor William's celebrated telegram to President Kruger at the time of the failure of the Jameson raid, Lord Lonsdale 'said: "If His Majesty's dispatch, had been rightly understood, it would have had a totally different effect. BRITISH WERE BEATEN.

PRACTICALLY DISARMED IN THE FACE OF THE ENEMY.

Latest Accounts of the Reverse Outside of Ladysmith—Great Bravery Shown by the Boers in the Face of the Galling Artillery Fire-Plan That Failed. (BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Nov. 2, 3 a.m.-[Exclusive Dispatch.] Military experts here are mable to comprehend why Col. Carleton's command should have been unable to communicate its sore strait to headquarters. White is well-provided and has abundant signallers. It is inexplicable that no arrangements should have been made for keeping up communication between detachments sent into an intricate, dangerous country, and the main body. The immediate cause of the loss the British suffered Monday was tragically simple. The position occupied by the British column in the early hours of Monday morning was taken, and the survivors made prisoners at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, because their amhausted. The bravest troops in " the world cannot hold out against modern rifle fire when they themselves are unable to reply, and this was the terrible plight to which the brave mer who had driven the Boers from the defenses at Glencoe and Rietfontein found themselves reduced on an unnamed hill which they had seized near Nicholson's Neck.

In spite of the losses, ominously described by Gen. White as "very numerous," the British were beaten They had done all that men could do to hold their ground, but when cartridge belts are emptied, practically disarmed men in the face of armed enemies, are defeated. Gen. White Gen. White has a considerable force of excellen cavalry, which has done most useful service, yet no effort seems to have been made to employ it to keep touch between the columns of the forces.

BOER BRAVERY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] LONDON, Nov. 2, 4 a. m.—[Exclusiv Dispatch.] A dispatch from Ladysmith, evidently filed Monday night, and which reached here this afternoon, says among other things:
Great gallantry was displayed by the Boer gunners in Monday's engagement. Through my field glasses I watched for some time a Boer battery splendidly posted on the top of a high ridge. Our men had the range to a yard, and planted shell after shell right upon it, mowing down the Boers who were serving it. But the enemy stuck to their guns, firing to the last, fresh men rushing out of cover and taking the places of their dead and wounded companions as fast as they Half a dozen Boers stood upon the crest of the hill calmly watching our batteries work, and there they remained with shells flying all around "The Gloucestershires and the Irish Fusileers were sent out the night berushieers were sent the might be fore with an appointed task, requiring patience and nerve. They were moved secretly to a point in the hills six miles northeast of Ladysmith. Then, at the time appointed they were to at the time appointed, they were to take a hand in crushing the enemy You know how the plan, beautifully conceived as it was, failed, and ended in disaster. The battlefield was a mag nificent plateau, interspersed kopjes, the chief of which, were Lombard's Kop and Culwana Mountain, two prominent eminences east of Lady smith between which passes the road to Helpmakaar

"The Times finds it difficult to believe the story of the mule stampede, and says these mules have repeatedly made night marches in India without a mishap. It assumes that Col. Carleton's mules were under native care. It recalls the recently reported mutiny of the muleteers, and suggests that Boers or their sympathizers tampered with the drivers, and that the rolling of bowlders was a signal for them to desert. It suggests alternatively that the natives became panic-stricken, and bolted with the animals. The story is in part corroborated by White's statement that the British losses were "very numerous." But if Col. Carleto "marched blindly into a trap," he seem to have "elected to stay there instead of retiring when his reserve ammunition was lost.

"Only one correspondent in his ac count of Monday's battle mentions hearing firing on the left, or rather says the Devonshire Regiment, which held the center, heard such firing on the left flank and toward its rear, and showed restlessness on that account.
"The War Office denies the Aldershot story that 10,000 additional troops are to be sent to South Africa, and government for a hospital ship, is now at Titebury, on the Thames, where Fletcher, Son & Fearnall are docking the ship gratis.

Lady Churchill is busy corresponding with Miss Clara Barton and others of the American Red Cross Society. She proposed to devote any surplus above the cost of equipping the Maine, to sending out a thoroughly-equipped land ambulance corps.

Five weeks ago Mrs. Branch moved her handsome furniture into the building. The woman was alone, but she told the janitor, Frank Stromsen, her husband was a traveling salesman and was out of town. Upon several occasions a man whom, the janitor believed to be her husband, visited her.

Sunday morning, October 22, Mrs. Branch called Stromsen in to fix a gas-jet. While the janitor was at work a strange man sat with his back to him and neither spoke nor turned his head. No one saw the man leave the flat.

Officers and Enlisted Men Who Served After the Expiration of Their Terms Should Have a Suitable Medal.

Pay of Leaders Under the Rank o Brigadier-General Ought to Be Increased-Segregation of Seacoast Artillery.

[A. P. NIGHT REPORT.] WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—The annual report of the Adjutant-General of the army, Brig.-Gen. Corbin, to the Secretary of War, was made public today. Gen. Corbin sums up the mil-itary forces now in the service of the United States as follows: Regular army, 64,586; volunteers, 34,574; total, 99,160. The regular establishment consists of ten regiments of cavalry, seven of artillery, and twenty-five of infantry. The volunteer establish-ment consists of one regiment of cavalry, twenty-four regiments of infantry and a Porto Rico battalion.

The distribution of these troops up to October 1 last was as follows: In the United States, 34,229; Porto Rico, 3,863; Cuba, 11,187; Philippines, 22,315; en route to Philippines, 17,099; Alaska, 499; Hawaiian Islands 466.

Corbin adds the following to this summary: "It is ordered that by December 1 next, all the infantry reg-December 1 next, all the infantry regiments, United States volunteers, now in the United States will have sailed for the Philippines. These with the troops now there, will give a total strength of 2117 officers and 63,508 enlisted men (an aggregate of 65,725.")

The service of many of the troops after their enlistment had expired causes Gen. Corbin to say in his report: "The patriotism of the regulars and volunteers who had enlisted only for the war with Spain by willingly and actively serving after the expiration of their terms of service calls for evidence of appreciation on the part of the department. To this end, it is respectfully recommended that each officer of the several volunteer regiments and each enlisted man who continued in service in the Philippine Islands after the second of March, 1899, until honorably discharged, be awarded a suitably inscribed medal."

During the year there have been 62,175 enlistments and refailstments, of which 53,024 were native-born and 9151 foreign-born. In point of color, 56,154 were white; 6000 colored, and 20 Indians.

Most of these gentlemen have families that they are unable to have with them, and therefore are compelled to maintain two establishments. Of the criticism on the staff organization of the army, Gen. Corbin says: "Much has been written of late concerning a better staff system. Ours may be," and doubtless is, open to improvements, but it should be borne in mind that the present organization is, the result of years of legislation borne of the best thought and labor of our best military men, and has stood successfully the test of all our wars. The criticisms of our system are too often the "result of disappointment. Seldom has there one appeared in print whose author has not been a long-standing applicant for a place in one of the staff corps or departments. The suggestion that our staff officers are not experienced in the duties of line officers is not borne out by facts."

The report dwells on the courtesies shown our troops by the British government officials, while stopping at Gibraltar and elsewhere, en route to the Philippines, and says this international courtesy will long live in the memories of both parties to the spontaneous exchange.

The report speaks of the unsatisfacmemories of both parties to the spontaneous exchange.

The report speaks of the unsatisfactory conditions in Hawaii in relation to land for military uses, saying:

"Sales of government lands and leases of crown lands have continued to the present time, and there is very little of either class left in immediate control of the government. Should this action be permitted to continue, it will result in embarrassment to the United States. It is urged, therefore, that certain tracts be taken without delay from the control of the Hawaiian government, and secured to the future uses of the United States, or have them declared as reservations for military purposes."

Recommendation is made that mili-

Recommendation is made that military officers serving abroad as military officers serving abroad as military officers serving abroad as military attachés be given increased rank for an additional number arm calls academy cadets to fill vacancies, its recommended that the President be authorized to appoint ten annually, and that two be appointed at large from each State.

Satisfaction is expressed that the army canteen embarrassment has been removed from the War Department by certain restrictions as its state of the army canteen embarrassment has been removed from the War Department by certain restrictions as well in the state of the artillery certain restriction and that twenty-five years' service as an enlisted man shall be sufficient to admit to the retired list of enlisted men.

Private Secretary Evans Says it Would Cause no Surprise if Mr. Hobart Were to Die at Any Time Now-Bulletin Issued by the Invalid's Physician.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Vice-President Hobart spent the most restful night that he has experienced in the past two weeks. At 7:30 o'clock this morning he was still asleep. He fell asleep late last night under the influ-ence of opiates, and did not awaken during the night. Dr. Newton, who has been attending him regularly, slept in the house last night, so that in the event of another relapse, such as the Vice-President suffered early yesterday and the moin-ing before, he might be on hand.

Mr. Evans. Mr. Hobart's private sec retary, said shortly before 8 o'clock this morning that the Vice-President's condition was more hopeful than it had been for the last few days, and again acknowledged that his chances of re-covery were then as nothing, also that none of the members of the family nor the physicians would be surprised if he died at any time now. The members of the family did not sit up last night, as they have done re-cently, but all retired early. No calls were made upon them nor upon the servants during the night. Evans de-clined to discuss the Vice-President's

After he awoke this morning Mr. Hobart took a little nourishment. Manytelegrams have been received at the Vice-President's house lately, expressing sympathy, or inquiring as to the condition of the noted invalid.

The following bulletin was issued at 1:10 p.m.: "Since the last bulletin was issued at 9 o'clock, the Vice-President has rested very well and taken considerable interest in current affairs. There is no change in his condition; There is no change in his condition except that he is a trifle weaker."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—The mem-pers of the Philippine Commission, Ad-miral Dewey, Profs. Schurman and Worcester and Col. Denby, will make preliminary report to the President before the end of the week, and it is understood the report will be given to the public. It will be prepared at he request of the President, as the result of a conference between the president and the commission oday. The President personally summoned the commissioners, and an hour was spent in consultation, during which he explained the points he desired covered in the preliminary report. It may be weeks, possibly months, be-of the Count d'Almenas, that through ignorance the American commissioners had allowed three islands at the northern extremity of the archipelago to remain under Spanish control through their definition in the treaty of the boundary of the group.

There is stated to be no doubt as to the sufficiency of the treaty clause to cede the entire archipelago. If there has been a failure on this point, the fact will not redound to Spain's benefit, for it is held officially that the islands north of the Philippine archipelago belong to Japan.

PORTO RICO VERDANT.

WONDROUS CHANGES IN THE PAST TWO MONTHS.

Island Crops Rapidly Recovering from the Effects of the Terrible Hurricanes — Change in Postage Rates Welcomed-Extensive Harbor Improvements to Be Made.

[A. P. EARLY A.M. REPORT.] PONCE (Porto Rico,) Oct. 25.—[As-oclated Press Correspondence. Wired from Chicago, Nov. 1.]. While com-merce and commercial enterprises of every kind are waiting for the United States to give to Porto Rico a market in place of the one taken from her, more than a year ago, Nature seems to be trying to show how much she can do for this fertile little island, and it is, indeed, surprising to be hold the changes she has wrought in the past two months. Large trees that were practically stripped of leaves and small branches are now covered in the preliminary report. It may be weeks, possibly months, before the complete report is ready. Prof. Schurman, who is president of the bommission, said after the members left the White House, that the report to be made this week would cover certain phases of the situation which the President desired cleared up at this time. When asked if the report would touch upon the so-called Sulu treaty, Prof. Schurman replied in the negative.

"That was purely a military arrangement." said he, "with which the commission had nothing to do."

Secretary Hay and Secretare. The commissioners made a full verbal report to the President, forecasting in brief the formal report that is to be prepared. Each of the members taiked in turn, not only upon the general features of the forthcoming report, but each treating more in detail of a certain line of subjects upon which hewas more fully informed than is colleagues. For it appears that the commission, while in the Philippine, took the course of dividing into subcommittees of one, each assuming a special branch of inquiry.

The feature of to today's conference was the revelation that the commission, while in the Philippine archipelago.

IT'S SPAIN'S MISTAKE.

[A. P. DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—The positive statement is made here by authority, that Spain does not retain possession of a single island in the Philippine archipelago.

This is called forth by the declaration in the Spanish Cortes yesterday of the Count d'Allmenas, that through ignorance the American commissioners and perfectly formed as ever, and stell was brokened un as a sever, and yeld almost as a sundant shade as before the terible hurricane of August 8. Young sugarcane that was broken down and cardant was brokened un and subfined was brokened un and sulf returned to the ground and soll from the source late that was mature and ready to cut was replanted in Nature's commissioners made a full verbal report to the President that is to be prepared. Each of the members taiked in time of subjects upon which h months yet leforg there will be any fruit.

The change in postage between the United States and Porto Rico from foreign to domestic rates, was welcomed by every one with much rejoicing. It nakes the island seem much nearer to the new mother country, and already the quantity of mail matter has nearly doubled. But there is much displeasure expressed here, especially by the resident Americans, at the action of the postal authorities in withdrawing the efficient mail clerks sent here by the United States and putting in their places Porto Ricans who are inexperienced and incompetent, but who work for less than half the salary received by the Americans. Another conplaint is of the irregularity and uncertainty of the oyerland mails. Although there is much to contend within the way of very bad roads, still intelligent supervision of the present vorking force and some common-sense changes would, it is claimed, more than double the efficiency of the postal service.

Spanish law still prevails, but it is modified and therewise changed by aromnon-sense changes would, it is aimed, more than double the effiency of the postal service.

The methods of, taxation are such as have not been known in most countries since the Middle Ages. The land-owners strive to unload the taxation on the merchants, and all sorts of unjust and discriminating taxes are placed on business and on private enterprises.

And yet, in spite of these conditions, and it is claimed the lack of proper recognition by Congress, much progress is being made in Americanizing the island. But the fact must not be overlooked that the Porto Ricans are losing the kindly feeling they have had for Americans, and, it is asserted, unless Congress, acts, and acts promptly, it will take years to overcome the evil accomplished by a few months' delay. Numerous schools' of various kinds have been opened or are now insprocess of organization. A battalion of native Porto Ricans Tas been formed and is doing efficient military service, particularly in guarding the jalls.

incertainty. The native courts, under tion for the naval station is the one recommended by Engineer Menocal some months ago, and includes, some forty acres to the west of the town, together with Isla La Grande.

The old arsenal comprised about four and one-half acres covered with buildings, lying south of the town, near the Playa Marina, is surrounded by private property in such a way that it would be impossible to enlarge it to the magnitude that is demanded by the strategic position of Porto Rico. Officers who are familiar with naval affairs think that Porto Rico should have a naval sub-station that is first-class in every particular.

At Key West and Dry Tortugas the government has coal sheds and docks, which, when improvements now under way are completed, will hold 30,000 tons of coal. Porto Rico is more than one thousand miles nearer the South Atlantic station, and lies directly in the course of vessels bound from New York for the southern station. It should therefore, the people-here say, have a sta fon as large as the other two put tog ther. A small samount of dredging in the entrance will make the landlocked harbor of San Juan deep enough for the use of our largest-vessels. The same considerations that make San Juan a desirable coaling station also make it a fine location for a dry dock.

A telephone message was received by the Mail from the Blue Lakes plant early in the forenoon as follows: No one seems to know how the fire started. It broke out in the machinery department at 4:45 o'clock this morning and continued for four hours. There is a good water supply here and there were plenty of hands to use it, but water will not extinguish electricity. The fire seems to have originated in the machinery itself, which was in operation at the time."

The only loser in Stockton by the destruction of the plant is the Speaky Flour Mill direct from Blue Lakes. About 5 o'clock this morning the machinery began to slow down and soon it stopped altogether. The mill will be unable to run until the plant at Blue Lakes is rebuilt, as the steam plant has been taken out. It requires 500 horse-power to operate the mill.

IBY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.1

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 .- [Exclusive ispatch. The President's annual message may contain some of the hottest information ever imparted by a Chief Executive to Congress. Today the President had several important callers at the White House, and to some of them he told things he has recently learned about the rebellion in the Philippines.

It appears from what the President said, that Gen. Otis has made recent reports showing conclusively that there would have been no rebellion but for the encouragement which the insurgents received last winter from this country. The members of the Phillip-BROOKS SENT UP FOR LIFE.

(A. P. NIGHT REPORT.)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—The negotiations for the partition of the Samoan Islands are proceeding rapidly, and officials here would not be surprised if a final agreement were reached in the near future. The discussion which is going on in London with the cooperation of the authorities here and in Berlin has brought, out certain essential features on which all three powers, Great Britain, Germany and the United States, appeared to be agreed. At the outset it is stated that the determina-tion was reached that the tripartite government of the group should come to an end, and that not more than two powers and preferably one, should gov-ern the island. It soon developed that an agreement was not likely to be an agreement was not likely to be reached giving the entire group to one power, but the chances seemed good for an agreement that two powers divide the islands, thus giving a dual govern-ment in place of the present unwieldly the islands, thus giving a dual government in place of the present unwieldly tripartite arrangement.

It seemed to be generally accepted by the negotiators that the United States would be one of the two powers to be represented, and that the island of Tutuila on which the harbor of Pago Pago is located would naturally fall to the lot of the United States. It is understood the British authorities quite fully coincide with the view, and while the Germans seemed to regard it fayorably it was left open for more mature approval by the Berlin authorities. In conceding this island and harbor to the United States, account was taken of the fact that if an agreement was reached on that point, it would still be for the United States Senate to give its approval to the arrangement. As for the remaining islands, Unolu is of much value, while the other, Savail, is practically valueless.

It is surgested that Great Britain cede the Gilbert and Solomon Islands to Germany, the latter retrying from Samoa. The Fiji Islands and some other points also have been considered during the discussion, but thus far Germany has not acted favorably on the suggestion, and there have been evidences that she preferred to retain her interests and make compensation to Great Britain. This remains open, and appears to be the chief point remaining in the way of a final adjustment.

NEGOTIATIONS CONTINUE. NO AGREEMENT YET.

LONDON, Nov. 1 .- [By Atlantic Cable.] While the Samoan negotiations continue, it can be said definitely that they are in such a condition that there is small possibility of reaching an agreement in the near future. United State has notified the Foreign Office that it heartily indorses the proposition for the government of Samoa by one power, but that so far no plan has been suggested, which appears satisfactory to the United States.

GREAT BRITAIN'S OFFER. [A. P. EARLY A.M. REPORT.] NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—A special to the Herald from Washington says that the Herald from Washington says that so far as can be learned, nothing is known in Washington of the reported offer by Great Britain to cede the Gilbert Islands and the Solomon Islands, in the Pacific to Germany.

Negotiations for the settlement of the Samoan question have reached a stage where Great Britain is called upon to make a proposition of some kind and the German Foreign Officemay have been sounded to learn whether Germany would be willing to turn over her interest in Samoa to Great Britain in return for the Gilbert and Solomon islands.

If the British Foreign Office has this bargain in view, it would have to be approved by the United States, as the third power interested in the Samoan islands before it could be formally agreed to by Great Britain and Germany.

LIPTON FORGIVES THE LOSS TO HIS POCKET

New York Cheers Sir Thomas and Reaches for His Hand in an Effort to Convince Him of Its Good Will.

He Makes a Little Speech to the Crowd and on Boarding His Steamer is Surprised With

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Sir Thomas Lipton sailed today for his home. He received a surprising tribute of the es-teem in which he is held by a great many people, in a kind of triumphal march through several downtown streets, and a great reception at the pier, where he went on board the St. Louis, and a series of informal recep-tions from thousands of people. He also received word of the presentation of the loving cup which will be ready for him by Christmas. Sir Thomas and a few friends left the Fifth Avenue Hotel at 8:30 o'clock to go to the Astor House, to meet the Loving Cup Committee.

When the Astor House was reached the Eighth Regiment Band was in waiting with some of the members of the committee, and the bands played as the carriages were driven up. The party remained but a few minutes at the hotel. The band, followed by the carriages, started off down Broadway, playing a lively air. All the way to the pier Sir Thomas got a reception that surprised him. People lined up on the sidewalks and cheered him, and many rushed out to shake hands as his car-rushed out to shake hands as his carriage slowly passed.

At Washington Market a lot of marketmen in their working clothes ran out and stopped the carriage, making Sir Thomas shake hands with them. He was soon surrounded by longshoremen, street-sweepers and venders, and Sir Thomas smiled as he shook hands right and left. Both of his hands were shaken by the crowd, which goodnaturedly half pulled him out of the carriage.

Sir Thomas and his party ascended to the second floor of the pler, where a platform had been erected. The long floor had been decorated with banners and bunting and a large crowd had assembled, including many women.

At the banquet platform was a floral representation of the Shightock, with hull of immorteles and sails of white silk. The sea was made of white and yellow chrysanthemums and red roses.

At the masthead floated the flag of the Royal Ulster Yacht Club.

When Sir Thomas and the others had ascended the platform ex-Maybr William L. Strong, chairman of the Loving Cup Committee, signaled for silence, and John M. Beach, one of the committeemen, formally advised Sir Thomas of the loving cup that is to be presented to him, adding that he and everyone else trusted that Sir Thomas would soon return. Sir Thomas

he was allowed to reply, when he said.

"I will always cherish the cup which is to follow me, and I will prize it, I assure, you much more than I would the America's Cup.

"As you know, I came here with designs on one of your most valued possessions. I did not accomplish my purpose, but I have been thoroughly compensated. It was a square and fair race, and I was squarely and fairly licked. I could not have received kinder or more courteous treatment. I am sorry to be leaving you, but I sincerely thank you for your kindness and goodress."

Sir Thomas shook hands with all who could get near enough, as he pushed his way to the gangplank. A great cheer went up as he stepped on the plank.

pushed his way to the gangplank. A great cheer went up as he stepped on the plank.

On board the St. Louis a surprise awaited Sir Thomas. This was the presentation of a handsome loving cup by a committee representing the American guests on Sir Thomas's yacht Erin during the yacht races. The presentation speech was made by Edward A. Summer.

Sir Thomas, in accepting the cup, said: "I have failed to win the America's Cup, but I have won the good wishes and the hearts of the American people, and I shall prize that more than the cup."

The yacht Shamrack and her convoy, the steam yacht Erin, did not start today upon their voyage back to England, as was intended. The weather was stormy, and it was deemed prudent on that account to delay the descriptive of the boats. The weather

NO INTERFERENCE WITH FIGHT. A RECORD ATTENDANCE.

[A. P. EARLY A.M. REPORT.] NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—There will be no interference from the authorities at the Jeffries-Sharkey heavyweight championship battle to take place on Friday night at Coney Island. The Chief of Police is authority for this

Chief Devery said: "I have no idea of stopping the bout. The Fitzsimmons-defiries affair, held in the same clubhouse, was properly conducted, and I have assurances from the officials of the Coney Island Club which is a regularly incorporated organization, that everything pertaining to the match will be strictly according to the Horton law. The police arrangements will be very similar to those that prevailed at the Jeffries-Fitzsimmons contest. I will probably take personal compand of the men at the ringside."

A feature of the clubhouse on Friday night will be the lighting apparatus operating the moving picture machine. There will be 400 incandescent lights shedding brilliancy on the ring. It was found in experimenting with the lights last night that they greatly, enhanced the view of the men in the arens. Chief Devery said: "I have no idea

Present indications are that the gate receipts will be larger by many thousands of dollars—by tens of thousands of dollars—than the gate receipts of any sporting or dramatic event, or any other event to which an admission fee is charged, in the history of the country.

Brooklyn Handicap of 1895 the rate receipts were upwards of $40,310. If the entire house for this fight should be sold out it will mean a gate of $10,000. The total sale up to fast night was in the seighborhood of $40,000, with the prospect that this sum will be increased to $50,000, before the doors are thrown open of Friday night. Every box seat has been sold, which, in itself represents about $25,000. The box prices are $20, $25, $30 and $35. The prices for other seats are $5, $10 and $315, according to their location. It is not likely that there will be a vacant seat in the clubhouse when the men enter the ring. Indeed, the probabilities are that standing room will be at a premium. Of itself New York is the strongest and most generous sporting constituency in America, and for that matter in the world. On this occasion the hosts of New York sporting men are to be supplemented by sporting men from every city in America—from Halifax to San Francisco, and from cities far on the other side of the Canadian boundary line to cities and towns on the Guif.

IA. P. NIGHT REPORT.1

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Jim Jeffries and Tom Sharkey have practically ended their training, and save for light exercise, will do no more until they face each other in the arena of the Coney Island Sporting Club on Friday night. They have both worked hard for the contest, and will probably prove to be in excellent condition. Some doubts have been expressed as to the form of Jeffries, as he has only done about seven weeks' work for the fight, but his manager, Billy Brady, and his trainers, Tommy Ryan and Billy Delaney, unite in declaring that he is in entirely satisfactory condition. He himself asserts that he is satisfied that he is stronger and better than he was on the night when he met Fitzsimmons in the same ring and defeated him.

On the other hand, there is no doubt [A. P. NIGHT REPORT.]

he is stronger and better than he was on the night when he met Fitzsimmons in the same ring and defeated him.

On the other hand, there is no doubt about the condition of Sharkey. He began work while in California early last summer, and has kept pegging away at it ever since. He is ambitious to be the champion pugilist of the world in his class, and does not want the matter of condition to stand in his way. His trainers, Tim McGrath and Bob Armstrong, and his manager, Tont O'Rourke, have your compelled to watch him to guard against going over the mark where he would be strong. As it is, he is in nearly perfect form. The eye of the contest sees both of the men supremely confident. Thousands of dollars have been wagered on the outcome of the fight. Jeffries remains favorite and the prevailing odds are 10 to 8, although some money is placed at shorter terms than that. It was expected that the flood of Sharkey money that came into town earlier in the week would make the terms even by the call of time Friday night, but men who follow the books and make a business of financial risks of a sporting nature are tonight predicting that Jeffries will maintain his lead in betting favor Neither of the men did much work today owing to the storm. At Asbury Park, Jeffries began with a short run on the road in the morning, then rested until 2 o'clock when he sparred with Ryan for the benefit of Prof. Mike Donovan who had come to see him work. Later in the afternoon, he punched the bag for wenty minutes, skipped the rope 1000 times, and worked with pulleys, dumb-bells and the wrist machine for half an hour.

It was a day of easy work for the Irishman. He took just enough exercise to keep his wind in working order and to insure his muscless remaining limber and supple. Before breakfast he took a short stroll with Tin. McGrath, his trainer, and after the meal he went out on the road for a four-mile walk and trot. He came running in afterward, perspiring freely, but breathing without the slightest perceptible effort. Sharkey's phys

O'Rourke accompanied him in a carriage.

Many wagers were placed tonight on the result of the big fight. Jim Wakely, a staunch admirer of Champion Jeffries, was one of the heaviest bettors today, placing $3200 on the Californian's chances. James J. Corbett bet $1000 against $800 on Jeffries, with George Krauss. Dick Laine had. $3500 to bet on Sharkey against $5000. J. C. Budd. who arrived here today from Cleveland, bet $1500 to $1250 with Chris Boylan. Budd has $5000 on Jeffries on Cleveland, bet $1500 to $1250 with Chris Boylan. Budd has $5000 on Jeffries on the same odds. Dick Dougherty, who has a commission of $5000 to place on Jeffries, bet $2000 tonight against $1600 with W. J. Mason. The remaining $3000 will be posted at the same odds. The articles of agreement under which Jeffries and Sharkey will fight for the heavyweight championship of the world calls for twenty-five rounds. They will battle for 66 2-3 per cent. of the gross receipts, of which the winner receives 75 per cent. receives 75 per cent.

Lists of the absolutely necessary articles of furniture for a small house or flat are now kept by many furniture dealers and are also found in household magazines and newspapers which have a department of the home. THE COUNCIL AND THE POLICE.

The police department is in more on the increase. The secret sore that has long been known to be festering in that arm of the body politic has broken out in a new place.

Yesterday the City Council, with unexpected precipitancy, proceeded to summarily remove from office the members of the Police Board, with the exception of the Mayor, whom the Council cannot "get at." The places of Messrs. Scar-borough, Parker, Pascoe and Goss were incontinently declared vacant, without a hearing, save only such "hearing" as was given to the dissatisfied policemen who made complaints against the Chief of Police for his recent reorganization orders, and against the commission (three to two) for sustaining him. On this hasty vote of want of confidence Council stood: For throwing out the Police Commissioners, Councilmen Pierce, Blanchard, Pessell, Louder and Todd. Against, Baker, Vetter and Toll. Absent President Silver.

Whatever was the provocation for this sudden and summary cause on the part of the Council, certain it is that the manner of it was bad, tending directly and inevitably toward increasing the existing demoralization in the police establishment. The Mayor and two of the commissioners, Goss and Pascoe, had by their votes sustained the Chief of Police in his commendable effort to improve the efficiency of the corps under his direction; and for this the heads of the two commissioners named were cut off by the Council, and likewise those of Scarborough and Parker, the two dissenting commissioners. The five high executioners of the Council were after blood, and they have got it. The Times does not dispute the power of the Council in this regard; we only criticise its unjustifiable method of exercising that power. It is a power to be used, not for the injury, but for the good, of the public service.

The dismissal of the commission was an act in itself of less consequence than the manner and motive of it. It appears to have been done chiefly at the stance of the reduced and dissatisfied officers and their champions, to whom the five high executioners aforesaid lent their ears, and to them alone.

Another Police Commission can and the members are composed, as they doubtless will be, of the sort of material In demand by the majority of the Councilmen, will their official work have the effect of improving the efficiency of the no tangible, recognizable existence. police force and thereby benefiting that public which it is the sworn duty of

The majority profess to be incensed at the action of the Chief and three Aguinaldo is already in possession of displacing or reassigning certain police terms of peace, which he can obtain to the new commission only such men States. These terms are unconditional ever arduaus the service; however se as they are convinced in advance will restore the removed officers to the places ernment. When he is ready to accede liminary disasters, we may rest asfrom which they were removed by their superior officer. This course, if taken, will have the inevitable effect of condemning that officer's recent action, of sustaining the weaklings, the conspirators and the malcontents, of further demoralizing the whole force, and of striking a direct blow at the efficiency of this important branch of the public service. Such a reversal of the reorganization work undertaken by the Chief and the Police Commission will make it impossible for the head of the be for them to lay down their arms force to remain in office with self-respect; he can no longer have that under him which is essential to the discipline and efficiency of the corps, and might as well be discharged at once by the Council, through its new ission, when appointed. sale-it is a mere cheap subterfugefive high executioners in the Council, or any of them, to hypocritically pretend that they propose to leave Chief Glass in office under "the new deal" which they have decreed. We cannot be convinced, except by irrefragible proofs (that are not forthcoming) that the five really mean to do any such thing. For the sake of mollifying public indignation, they will in the outset make a pretense that they do not mean to disturb the Chief of Police. but very soon it will be seen that a way has been discovered for ridding the police office of the man whose official head has been so often and so fiercely demanded by the political gangs and the criminal elements.

The Times does not appear here in the role of an unqualified indorser of every act and every policy of the present police administration. By no means. There are defects to cure and evils to correct; and this journal stands ready st in the needed work of reform, of which the recent changes in the force were only a beginning. But we warn the Council that its action of yesterday in summarily removing the Police Comin summarily removing the Police Comon "at one fell swoop," so to speak, comes into use.

on the ground stated, namely, its san tion of a badly-needed measure of police reform, will be productive of nothing but evil unless it is immediately followed up by a radical substitute-a measure of reform for the inauguration trouble. The bane of demoralization is of which we see small hope in the situation as it stands-a situation created by a majority in the Council with amazing conceptions of public duty and police discipline.

. Whatever the outcome, however, of this deplorable police business, and whoever may be in or out of office, The Times here and now declares its unalterable purpose to henceforth insist upon the enforcement of all municipal laws and ordinances, the suppression of crime, and the maintenance of peace and order throughout the city, night and day, week days and Sundays, no matter who may get hurt in the opera-

JURADA'S MISSION.

A dispatch from London to the New York World brings information that "Senor Antonio Regidor Jurada, who is to act as Aguinaldo's envoy for the purauthorities in Washington," has arrived in that city from Madrid. Cufiously enough, it is said to be one of the missions of Senor Jurada "to lay the grievances of the secular priests in the Philippines against the friars before the the senor has been "asked by an in fluential committee of bankers and merchants in Manila to use any available opportunity while in Washington to sound this government as to the best obtainable terms of peace."

Inasmuch as Aguinaldo professedly refuses to recognize the authority of the United States government, the incongruity of his sending an envoy to lay the grievances of the priests, or the grievances of anybody, before the Washington government, is apparent without argument. It is obviously a cheap and shallow diplomatic trick, of a piece with several other similar tricks which Aguinaldo has attempted to play upon the Washington government, in order to secure from our government some sort of recognition for his alleged republic. This trick will fail, of course, as others | habitation, no matter in what part of have failed. Jurada will probably be the world that may be. VICE-PRESIDENT HOBART.

The serious illness of Vice-President Hobart, and the certainfy that his public career is ended, whether he survives the present illness or not, has the man and the office which he holds. The Vice-Presidency has long been regarded as the graveyard of political ambition, and it must be confessed that there are many reasons for so regarding it. As a general proposition, the man who is elected to the Vice-Presidency, though nominally entering public life, virtually disappears from the public gaze. His duties, it is true, are not unimportant. During the sessions of Congress, especially, he holds one of the most important positions in the legislative branch of the government. But, notwithstanding this fact, he is seldom heard of. His name does not appear in the records of debates, except in the comparatively few cases where there is a tie vote in the Senate, of which body he is, ex-officio, the presiding officer. To all intents and purposes, the Vice-President is a mere figurehead. Under the rules of the Senate he has comparatively little power-not nearly so much power as is possessed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives. Yet, there is but one human life between the Vice-President and the Presidency of the United States, which is, all things considered, the highest office that can be held by man; for the President of the United States has powers and responsibilities which in many respects are greater than those held or exercised by any other earthly po-

Vice-President Hohart has administered with marked ability and with becoming dignity the office to which he was elected by the suffrages of his countrymen. He retires from the office with the enviable record, "well done, good and faithful servant." He has presided over the deliberations of the Senate, not only with marked ability, but with fairness, and in a spirit of genpose of presenting peace terms to the iality which has won for him the admiration and the friendship of all his political affiliations. His retirement from public life will be a source of keen regret, not alone to his associates in the Senate, but to the people of the en-Washington government." Incidentally, | tire country. Dear Sir—I have Just received and principles of justice and fair play are quite another. The British are battling for these principles in South Africa, and if they do not triumph in the end it will be a sorry day for that part of this planet.

The President's visit to Richmond to attend the launching of the gunboat Shubrick was a happy, event-for the State of Virginia and for the country. It gave another opportunity for our good President to express sentiments indicative of the cordial feelings which exist between all our people, and to exploit in becoming speech that spirit of patriotism and loyalty to the flag which prevails—in—all—sections—of the republic. The Executive's speech at Richmond was gracious, telling, instinct with tact, and timely in all ways. A merica has begin blessed in its President McKinley, nor has she had one more competent to say just the right thing at exactly the right time than is the strong, masterful, resolute character who is today occupying this the highest position in the world, and bearing the burden for the people with their entire confidence, esteem, and cordial and enthusiastic support.

A London cable states that Mrs. Langtry has had a row with her callow husbaff, Hugo de Bathe, and that when last seen she was dining at a restaurant with a big man, wearing a large mustache. It is evident that the Jersey Lily is waiting to work out some new chapters before publishing her reminiscences.

It is not unlikely that some Atlanta newspaper will soon be nominating Lieut. Brumby for the Presidency, BON VOYAGE, SIR THOMAS.

The tribute paid by the people of New York to Sir Thomas Lipton on the occasion of his departure for England, yesterday, was only a local manifestaserved to call public attention anew to tion of the high esteem in which he is held by the American people at large. His conduct since he first came to the United States with the Shamrock to compete for the America's cup, has been sportsman. He took his defeat bravely quietly, and even cheerfully, as became a plucky and fair-minded man and sportsman. He carries with him, from our shores, the hearty admiration and esteem of 70,000,000 of people, and that is more to him than would have been the trophy for which his Shamrock contested so valiantly; although, had he won the America's cup, Sir Thomas would none the less have had the esteem and admiration of our people. The loving cup which was presented to him just prior to his departure, by a committee representing the American guests on his yacht Erin during the races, and the more elaborate loving cup which is to be presented to him about Christmas time, are fokens of esteem which he will prize far more than he would have prized the America's cup, had he won it. And, perhaps, most touching of all the manifestations of regard, were the hearty cheers and hand-shakes which were given him along the line of march to the place of embarkation, by thousands of working people who left their work temporarily to greet him. There is a lesson in all this which Lord Dunraven might study with profit.

The serious illness of Vice-President Hobart has caused a great deal of anxiety, and there is universal hope for marked improvement in his condition. His position as Vice-President and also as a leader in eastern pointics makes him a man of high standing, not only at his home in New Jersey, but in other portions of the East. Garret A. Hobart was born in Mommouth county, N. J., in June, 1844, entered the sophomore class of Rutgers College in 1860, and graduated in, 1863 at the age of 19. He taught school for a while, and then entered the law office of Socrates Tuttle of Paterson, N. J.; was admitted to the bar in 1869, and commenced the practice of law in Mr. Tuttle's office. He entered the Legislature in 1873, was reflected in 1874, and made Speaker in 1876. He was elected to the Senate in 1879, in 1881 was made President of that body, and was reflected in 1882. He was a delegate-atlarge to the Republican convention in 1876, and again in 1880. He served as a member of the National Committee continuously from 1884 until 1896, when he was nominated for Vice-President, and having been duly elected, he took the oath of office on March 4, 1897.

BIG BLAST SENT DOWN PLENT OF GOOD ROCK.

Deep Hole to Be Filled Before Rock Blown Out Can Be Saved-Twentytwo Tons of Powder Used in One Blast-Contractor not at All Dis-

For the purpose of obtaining some official information in regard to the results of the big blast of a week ago, a Times reporter called at the government quarry on Santa Catalina Island vesterday, where he found J. S. Anunsuperintendent of the work, who had just returned from the mainland, where he had been in consultation with Mr. Heldmaier, who came out from Chicago to observe the blast, but the explosion occurred the day previous to his arrival. Mr. Anunsen says the blast was in a way satisfactory, though not entirely so. A vast quantity of stone was brought down, and much of it good stone. By good stone is meant large blocks, for nearly all the stone is of a good quality, but through the effects of volcanic action at the time of the unheaval of the island it is cracked and seamed in every direction by the terrifice pressure from underneath and the tendency on being disturbed and the tendency on being disturbed is for these seams to open up and leave the rock in small pieces.

About 90 per cent. of these large blocks rolled into the ocean and were lost, but that was inevitable on account of the precipitous bluff and was fully expected. The bluff contin fully expected. The blun continued down under the water almost as steep as above, extending out about one foot in two. At 500 feet from shore, where their nearest moorings are located, their nearest moorings are they have 400 feet of water. they have 400 feet of water. Their object now is to create a shelf or bench for the lodgment of what may be brought down by future blasts, and although this blast cost the contractors $10.000, the result in rock to them is practically nothing. Such work as this, however, is an absolute necessity any must be done, at whatever cost, and this is why the work is proceeding so slowly.

and this is why the work is proceeding so slowly.

The contractors now have several hundred feet of bench along the shore cleared away, the result of former blasts, and in a few months they will have a quarter of a mile of continuous bench and work will then be prosecuted under much more favorable conditions.

One hundred men are now employed and as room is made for more men t work to advantage, the force will b increased. Quite a number of the me are at present engaged in weighin the stone from the barges in order t get their exact capacity. Two of the stone from the barges in order the barges in order the stone from the barges in order the barges in ord the stone from the barges in order to get their exact capacity. Two of the barges have previously been weighed and they are now re-weighing for the purpose of accuracy. Two weighings of an 8000-ton barge resulted in a dif-ference of but two and a half tons.

of an 8000-ton barge resulted in a difference of but two and a half tons.

Mr. Anunsen says his principal has the grit of a hero. That notwithstanding he has run up against a hard proposition, he does not admit the possibility of failure, but says: "Push the work for all it is worth and keep a-pushing!" The work is behindhand, but there seems to be sufficient reasons for its, being so. All that the contractors ask is that the people possess themselves in a patience and give them time to work out the problem, which they have confidence they can do in due time. The rock is there, but it requires a much greater expenditure of labor and means than entered into their calculations.

Aiready they have a section of 1100 feet of the breakwater up to an average of twelve feet from the surface, and they now begin to see where their work will count for more than it has in the past. They purpose putting in a hydraulic pump and hope to facilitate the means of removing the large quantities of muck and debris.

As showing the scale on which this work is conducted at the quarry, the recent blast consisted of 1800 kegs of powder, each weighing twenty-five pounds, or 45,000 pounds, making twenty-two and one-half tons of coarse black powder. This was stowed in the cross-cuts at the ends of two tunnels each 100 feet in length. Three wires with electric caps were laid to each store of powder, and the tunnels refilled with earth and muck until they were as solid as the original rock almost, or at least sufficiently to cause a new opening at another point to be made. The wires were conducted to a point a hundred yards down the beach from the nearest tunnel, and at the appointed time, connection with an electric battery having been made, Mr. Anunsen touched a button and the twenty-two and a half tons of powder did the rest.

The mountain seemed to rise in the air, then waver and fall back. A dull, heavy roar pealed forth and the face of the great cliff two hundred and fifty feet up was hurled down into the sea. Great volumes of smoke issued from fissures in the rocks and immense clouds of dust arose and joined the columns of smoke, which drifting along the face of the cliff that stands at that poput some 500 or 600 feet in height, formed a magnificent spectacle, accompanied as it was by the roar of falling stones, which seemed to issue out of the mountain side as water is poured from a vessel.

The great volumes of falling stone, with the quake of the blast, formed a tidal wave many feet in height, which threatened to engulf the little launches which had come up from Avalon with sightseers to witness the spectacle, but aside from tossing them about like chips no harm was done them.

Fissures were opened up in the mountain and smoke was seen to issue from near the top and at several points a hundred yards or more from the scene of the blast.

The men seem to be well cared for about the quarry and everything possible is done to minimize the danger. The superintendent says he requires no man to go where he would no go, or take any chances which he would not take himself. Their dormitory is a building 200 feet long and twenty-eight feet in width, the location for which had to be biasted out of the rock. It contains all necessary accessories, being provided with fresh and salt waventy and everything position and the population of the solid provided with fresh and salt waventy eight feet in width, the location for which had t ing provided with fresh and salt water and fire hose. The culinary department can be recommended, as the reporter arrived on the scene just in there may be no suffering from the want of a physician and surgeon, a resident physician is maintained there, he men contributing $1 per month

Several of the mountain resorts of Southern California will keep open all the winter this year. For those who enjoy a crisp, bracing atmosphere there is no better time for a mountain trip than in winter, when there is in the air more than a suspicion of frost, which sends the blood coursing freely through the yeins.

A Pasadena club has been discussing the "crazy boom" of twelve years ago. If any city has cause to be thankful for that same boom, it is Pasadena, which, mainly through that real-estate excitement, has been transformed from a village, with a daily stage line, to a flour-ishing city, with four lines of railroad running from Los Angeles, one of which runs cars every fifteen minutes, and still cannot accommodate the passen-

It is somewhat of a surprise to learn that the Southern Pacific has closed its station at Palms, a pretty little suburban place midway between Los Angeles and Santa Monica, which was laid out toward the end of the realestate boom. The closing of the depot is probably only a temporary move.

Meanwhile, the time is ripe for the subdivision and settlement of the big. tracts of undeveloped land which lie between Los Angeles and the ocean on Yuma has again displayed the freakish proclivities of its climate. Up to Sunday last, of all the stations whose rainfall was reported upon by the Weather Bureau, Yuma was the only one which showed a decline as com-pared with last season, the rainfall be-ing only .08 as compared with .18 for last season. The other stations showed various rates of increase over the pre-vious year, running from 100 per cent. at San Francisco to nearly 1000 per cent. at Los Angeles.

The success which has so far at-tended the efforts of the Southern Pa-cific Company to keep the Terminal electric railroad out of Pasadena and the Traction Electric Railway out of San Pedro, shows how strong a pull that enterprising corporation has in these parts. The public will attach less blame to a corporation which en-deavors to seize an advantage wherever it can, at the expense of the people, than to those servants of the people who make such doings possible.

Two burros, owned by a man who runs a mountain resort near Sierra Madre, were eaten by bears a few days ago. This furnishes a fine opportunity for the yellow eastern papers to get out a striking page. They might depict half a dozen ferocious grizzlies, each as large as a mastodon, devouring a couple of pigmy burros in the front yard of a fandsome residence, while the affrighted family seeks safety by clapbing up the heliotrope bushes and cocoanut palms in the background.

Members of the State Board of Horticulture have been visiting San Diego to look into the proposition of establishing an experimental station there. This would be a good idea, as the discount participal station of the state of tance from the nearest existing station, at Pomona, is far enough to warrant the establishment of another one. While they are at it, it would be a good thing if they could set aside a part of the station, for making experiments with proposed railroads. In this way they might, in course of time, be to develop one that would stick.

"SAFE BIND, SAFE FIND."

Outside of a Safe Deposit Vault there is no such thing as safety from burglars. Burglars are not prone to go on wild goose chases. They invariably acquaint themselves with the victim's habits and premises before attempting a robbery.

The man who keeps his valuables in a Union Bank of Savings Safety Deposit Box is therefore secure from robbers and to a great extent safe from attack simply because he is prudently cautious and does not make lavish displays of plate and silver, and avoids having large sums of money in his home.

It goes without saying that the Safety Deposit Boxes of the Union Bank of Savings are absolutely and beyond all question burglar proof. This is the one place where thieves cannot break through and steal. The moral of this is obvious, and the best way to apply it is to rent a box at once in the vaults of the Union Bank of Savings.

[AT THE CITY HALL.] THEIR PLACES VACANT.

COUNCIL DISMISSES THE POLICE COMMISSIONERS.

Lauder Makes the Motion and it Carries, With three Members Opposing Hasty Action-Second Act in Sensational Drama-Protests

The second act in the somewhat sensational drama that is now being enacted at the City Hall culminated Police Commission by the Council. Councilmen Lauder, Todd, Blanchard, Pierce and Pessell voted to declare the offices of the Police Commissioners vacant, and Council-men Toll, Vetter and Baker opposed such hasty action.

In the morning several of the deposed police officers were about the City Hall interviewing the Councilmen and discussing the action of the Chief and the Police Commission with city offi-cials and others of their friends, but torneys held Tuesday night.

Attorney Rogers had advised that each of the officers send a protest to the Police Commission and to Chief Glass, and then take up the new duties to which they had been assigned. This was done, and the following protest was filed with the clerk of the board yesterday morning, separately signed by Officers Roberts, Morton, Gridley, Hensley and Cottle:

"Under orders 13 and 14, issued by the Chief of Police of the city of Los Angeles, and posted at the Central Police Station under date of October 21, 1899, I am advised that on and after November 1, 1899, I will be relieved of the position that I now occupy as secretary of police, and will be assigned to other duties, viz., to assume the duties of a patrolman; and I am directed to turn over to my successor in office all city property which I now have in my possession as an officer of the police department of the city of Los Angeles. I respectfully submit to the requirements of said order (always under protest,) as I deem it the duty of a police officer to do. I hereby respectfully offer and announce my readiness at all times to fulfill all the requirements of any and every duty imposed upon me by law or otherwise, as such secretary of said topelice force, and request to be allowed to perform said duties."

NOT ENTIRELY UNEXPECTED. A few of the knowing ones were informed Tuesday night that there was a movement on foot to oust the Police Commission, but no one thought that it would materialize before the regular session of the Council next Monday. At last Monday's session of the Council the monthly pay roll was not ready for approval and an adjournment was taken until Wednesday at 2 o'clock for the purpose of attending to this routine matter. Pursuant to this adjournment the Council met yesterday afternoon. There was some difficulty in getting a quorum. Four of the Councilmen remained in the committee-room for some time caucusing on the question that was to come up. Finally the matter was arranged and the late members filed in and took the late members nied in and took atheir seats. Mr. Pessell was elected to act as president during the session. The regular routine business was tansacted. The pay roll' was approved and the contract and bond of Edwards & Beyrle, for work on the Third gireet tuppel were passed upon by the council.

tunnel were passed upon by the Council.

During an interval in the proceedings, Mr. Laudér went to the clerk's desk and laid thereon a sheet of paper. The motion, for such it was, bore every outward resemblance to the regulation request for the placing of a cross-walk somewhere, and the clerk picked it, up nonchalantly. Soon the expression on his face showed deep interest and the faces of the Councilmen who were not aware that any matter of particular importance was to come up were the picture of surprise as the clerk read that, 'Mr. Lauder moves that the Council hereby declares the positions of Police Commissioners Goss, Parker, Scarborough and Pascoe, 'vacant.' Councilman Todd promptly seconded the motion.

As soon as he could get his breath, Mr. Toll was on his feet. He delivered a lengthy protest against the proposed action of the Council and spoke

"I presume that the gentleman who has made this motion has fully informed himself that conditions exist to make such action necessary. I presume also that the gentleman who seconded the motion has also informed himself of all the particulars in the seconded the motion has also informed himself of all the particulars in the case before asking the attention of this body on so grievous a matter. pared to state whereir, that injustice lies. Doubtless all these things have been done before urging upon our attention the consideration of a matter that entails such serious consequences to this body. "I presume likewise that those among us who seem disposed to vote for this motion have also ascertained that the Police Commission has grievously erred in the action that was taken yesterday, and that they are prepared to testify of their own certain knowledge, that a great injustice was done to the officers who were derated by the orders of the Chief. I suppose that the Police Commissioners have been consulted, and that they have refused to recede from the position which they took. I suppose that the officers who have been injured by this decision have asked a hearing and have been denied. I suppose, also, that these gentlemen are here to state that the officers the commissioner. that these gentlemen are here to state that the action of the commission was taken wrongfully, willfully and against the best interests of the department and the city. All this I must believe before I can think that these gentlemen have come before this body to ask that the offices of these commismen have come before this body to ask that the offices of these commissioners be declared vacant.

"But, nevertheless, I fear that the gentlemen are not so well informed on all these points. Neither do I believe that any member of the Council has full knowledge of the circumstances that surround the action of the Police Commission. If all, the presumptions that have been made were correct, then I would be as ready to vote on the question as anyone, but under the actual conditions that exist, the Council will irreparably injure itself by taking action of so astounding a nature without a more thorough consideration. I do not believe that there is a single Councilman present who is informed on the circumstances that led to the changes in the department.

"If the Police Commission has derated these men without cause and when no charge's were preferred against them and have thereby done them wrong, how much greater injustice will we do the commission if we take their places from them and it should prove that the changes, as they claim, are for the best good of the department? How can you ask that the Council take any such action when there is no evidence before this body showing that the commission has done a wrong?

that will deprive these commissioners of all authority and break down every right and every claim to dignity that they have? What assurance is there they have? What assurance is there that if the old commission is removed and a new one put.in, the wrong will be righted? Are these commissions to be mere puppets with strings upon their toes that they may dance when our farcy dictates to pull the cord? A ginal motion carried. Councilmen anchard. Todd, Lauder, Pessell and erce voting for, and Councilmen II, Baker and Vetter against the mo-matches were being run at Agricultural Park. That was one of the most farcical affairs that has ever happened in this city. I do not believe any set of men that will allow a subordinate officer to run over them and dictate the policy of any department, especially where the law is made a travesty of are capable of filling positions on a commission. This last instance merely accentuates the servility that the commission has shown on previous occasions. I believe that the commission as a body has shown itself incompetent, and for that reason I introduced the motion to relieve them of their official duties."

tion to relieve them of their official duties."

Mr. Todd, who seconded the motion, said: "I have acted from the standpoint of a man who believes he is right and that he is doing his duty. The actions of the Police Commission have not for a long time met with my approval. I consider that Agricultural Park affair, when members of the Police Commission were humiliated and practically forced to kneel at the feet of a subordinate officer, one of the most farcical exhibitions in the history of the City Hall. The action of the Police Commission in disgracing honorable, capable men without a moment's warning, was, in my estimation, out of all bounds of reason. The commission was simply whipped into line by the mighty hand of the Chief. For months all sorts of rumors of reorganization in the police department have months all sorts of rumors of reorgan-ization in the police department have been in circulation, showing a lack of confidence, either in the head of the department or the Police Commission. As a result of this the force has been demoralized and has not been kept in a position to give the best service to the people. I believe that the Police Commission has proved itself incompetent by maintaining a subservient attitude toward an inferior officer, and for that and other reasons of public for the place.

Mr. Vetter said: "I feel that the action taken by the Police Commission at Tuesday's session in derating ofcers of years' standing in the department without looking into the matter for their own information, was a very bad procedure. I believe that the officers affected were fully justified in resenting the humiliation to which they have been subjected. The action of the Council in summarily removing the Police Commissioners is in my judgment following a very bad example. Two wrongs do not make a right. I believe that sufficient time should have been given the Police Commission to realize the full import of their action and to reverse themselves if convinced that an injustice had been done. I am not necessarily opposed to the action of the Council, but I deem it precipitate and ill-advised without more consideration. Consequently, I yoted to postpone action of the council, the regular transmitted that an interest which the regular the regular transmitted that an interest themselves if convinced that an injustice had been done. Mayor Eaton had very little to say garding the action of the Council. 'I still believe that the action of the tion passed by the Council is wrong,' "The commission has always acted for the best interest of the de-partment and most certainly had the right to delegate to the Chief the right to arrange the members on the force in any way that he saw fit. If the Chief had not made the department efficient. I would have been the first to hold him responsible. As I am the sole remaining member of the commission, I expect that there will be peace in the ranks for a few days, at least.

THE POLICE CHANGES INDORSED BY FORMER COMMISSIONERS.

Chief Glass yesterday received the following letter signed by Messrs. Wyman, Forman and Gibbon, former Police Commissioners:

discussing the action of the Chief and the Police Commission with city officials and others of their friends, but no special significance was supposed to attach to their actions. It was known that a lengthy conference between the deposed officers and several attorneys retained by them had been held at the officer of Earl Rogers, Eagle the evening before and it was supposed that the officers were about the officers where the conference of the strongers that the officers were about the officers where the changed by the officers but one, whose positions and rank were changed by the orders of the Chief.

Mr. Toll then made a motion to amend the original motion that the matter be deferred until Monday. INSUFFICIENT HOSE FUNDS. ESTIMATE TOO LOW

It developed yesterday that the funds available for the purchase of hose were not nearly sufficient to pay for the 15,000 feet that the department wishes to acquire. At the present time there is only a liftle over $7000 left of the money derived from the $150,000 bond sale, made for the purpose $150,000 bond sale, made for the purpose of improving the fire department, a little over a year ago.

One of the engine-houses that was to be built on Aliso street has not yet been begud. It is thought that this house will cost at least $12,000. Twenty-four horses will have to be purchased in order to supply the new companies. They will cost at least $125 apiece, or $3000. Several of .the houses have yet to be wired with the electrical apparatus that is essential to the proper working of the department, and this work will cost about $2000. At the prices quoted, the 15,000 feet of fire hose could not be bought for much less than $12,000. This makes $29,000 of expense, and only $7000 to meet it.

for much less than $12,000. This makes $23,000 of expense, and only $7000 to meet it.

It is evident from these figures that the amount of hose purchased will have to be considerably reduced. The horses and the electric wiring are necessities that must be had, and as these will cost about $5000, only $2000 will be available for the purchase of hose. This sum at the most favorable figure would not supply over $300 feet of hose. After consultation, it is thought that the funds can in some way be eked out so as to supply at least $600 feet.

Commissioner Kuhrts now believes that the department can get along very comfortably, if the amount of hose is brought up to 20,000 feet. As there is hearly $1,4000 feet in the department now, this would require about $6000 feet additional. Just why the commissions thould want to purchase $15,000 feet if $6000 feet will answer the purpose has not been explained. It is pointed out that this amount will give a lipe of hose aggregating 1000 feet to each of the sixteen engine-houses, and will leave $1000 feet additional for each of the four main engine-houses in the center of the city.

Where the blow will fall the heaviest is on the hose agents, who have come here from far and near, attracted by the size of the contract for their line of goods. Many of them have spent a great deal of money in legitimate expenses, and they will not look upon the reduction in the amount wanted with any great favor, as a matter of course.

Dr. Hagan said that he was unaware that it devoived upon him in his position to attend firemen, when he sent in the bill, but that as soon as his attention was called to the matter he wrote to have it withdrawn. [AT THE COURTHOUSE.] HOMER LAUGHLIN SUED.

A. N. DAVIDSON SAYS HE OWES HIM MUCH MONEY.

A Business Agent Who Was Discharged Because He Became Annoying to Homer Laughlin, Jr.—A Story With Two Sides and Both of Them

Homer Laughlin was defendant yes Homer Laughlin was defendant yesterday in a suit, on trial before Judge Mahon, begun by A. N. Davidson to recover $3050, alleged to be due for services rendered in negotiating sales, purchases and exchanges of real property in this city and in supervising the construction of the Homer Laughlin building on Broadway, between Third and Fourth streets. Other services were also alleged to have been rendered in employing servants and rendered in employing servants and obtaining tenants for the building, and n paying bills and doing general serv ces for the defendant.

This work was all done between October 1, 1896, and July 26, 1898, and was tober 1, 1896, and July 26, 1898, and was worth $3550, it is alleged, no part of which has been paid, except $500. The action was brought to collect this sum. While the construction of the building was in process, Laughlin is alleged to have approached Davidson with the promise of employing him permanently as his agent in the management of the building—keeping it rented, collecting the rents and attending to the repairs—at a salary of $60 per month, with the understanding that, after the tenants began to pay rent, Davidson should receive a rent, Davidson should receive a monthly remuneration of $150. Rents began to come in about July 1, 1898, but Davidson was unable to draw his salary permanently, for on July 26 he was fired, "without any cause or excuse whatever," it is alleged, and never taken back.

ary permanently, for on July 26 he was fired, "without any cause or excuse whatever," it is alleged, and never taken back.

In addition to a general denial, Laughlin answers with his side of the story. He says that, at Davidson's instance, he hired him to perform various services, Davidson acting as his agent, from October 1, 1896, to May 1, 1897. Part of the services consisted in collecting rents, for which he paid him 5 per cent. gross as his commissions. Other services in the way of supervising the construction of a two-story building and moving a cottage to the rear of a lot, and an alleged attempt to negotiate a trade of property on the east side of Broadway for property on the west, which Laughlin says he was compelled to take up personally and push to a conclusion, were also rendered. These services were paid for, with the exception of the trade that fell through.

Laughlin admitted that he proposed to Davidson to give him $60 a month until the big building was completed and thereafter $150 a month "until the defendant should take entire charge of the building." On March 9, 1898, $500 was paid to his employé under this "express contract."

The only services, however, that Davidson is alleged to have rendered this "express contract."

The only services, however, that Davidson is alleged to have rendered in the construction of the building were "as clerk, messenger and servant of defendant," to carry messages and specific directions to the architect, superintendent and various contractors.

specific directions to the architect, superintendent and various contractors, and to work under such directions as the defendant might give him from time to time in carrying on his general business. For these services Davidson was to get $60 a month.

But between July 12 and 26, 1898, Homer—Laughlin, Jr., was made his father's attorney-in-fact. Up against him Davidson seemed to run immediately with a shattering bump. "In many ways," says the answer, "he caused the son and attorney-in-fact of the defendant annoyance and trouble in the management of the building, and in divers ways worked against the interests of the building and against defendant's interests, and so misbehaved and misconducted himself." that he was discharged on July 25, whereupon Laughlin took charge of the entire management of the building himself.

Several times thereafter defendant alleges that he tendered a balance of $429 that he says he owes to Davidson, but the latter has always refused to

THE M'DONALD WILL CONTEST. CONTINUANCE WANTED.

E. N. McDonald died in this city June 10, 1899, leaving an estate valued at 1100,000. Disposing of this property, he left two wills, naming his wife as able compromise, from which state of affairs it was alleged to be impossible for contestants to be prepared for the trial at the date set.

Several counter-affidavits were filed yesterday in opposition to the motion, to the effect that Mrs. McDonald knew of no compromise ever having been of fered by her and that an abundance of time had been allowed for all necessary depositions to be taken. The motion was denied by Judge Mahon, who continued the matter until today, when it will either proceed to trial or some date agreed upon for a future hearing.

In her complaint Mrs. Hickey avers that she is the owner of a valuable lot of property on South Broadway, between Fourth and Fifth streets. She alleges that her husband, with intent to defraud her out of the property, falsely represented to her that if she would convey it to him, it would become community property; that he could do nothing with it without her consent; that upon his death, it would could do nothing with it without her consent; that upon his death, it would be invested in her absolutely; that in the event of her death before his, it would become vested in him during his lifetime and would then go to her children by a former husband, Jacob Parallies his lifetime and would then go to her children by a former husband, Jacob Bumiller.

Relying upon these representations as true, she executed a deed to the property to Hickey without consideration, but on October 16, 1899, she avers that she discovered that she had been the subject of fraud as practiced by her husband to get hold of, her property, and she asked the court for a decree setting aside the deed and an order enjoining defendant from recording the instrument that had been placed in escrow and from disposing of or incumbering in any way the property involved.

Hickey tells his side of the story in an affldavit filed in the case yesterday. He says that the property in question was transferred to him "for love, and affection and for a valuable consideration consisting of property of the value of $20,000 and a mutual agreement to convert certain properties into community property." He denies that Mrs. Hickey was forced into the transaction, but avers that she did her part of her own free will and had the matter under consideration for three months.

He states that he was induced to dispose of his business in the East at a great loss, to come to Los Angeles to take charge of his wife's property. He is sure she read carefully the escrow deed before it was signed.

The property now pays a monthly rental of only about $55, and he says that Mrs. Hickey not only desired, but earnestly requested him to take possession of the property, manage it and put $20,000 of his own funds into it in the way of a new building, so that it would pay bigger revenues. To accomplish this, Mrs. Hickey, he says, offered to deed the property to him without consideration, other than love and affection, but he declined to accent the

The hearing was then continued until next Monday. The defendants were released upon depositing $25 cash bail.

THEIR RELATION TO INDUS-TRIAL INTERESTS.

How the Great Question of Trans. portation Underlies Material Prosperity in Every De-

The Railroad Men of the United States are Making Their Influence Felt All Over the Civilized World.

A Striking Object Lesson in the Oregon's Voyage-What Rail-roads Have Accomplished in the Great West.

On October 25, which had been designated as "Expansion day," a paper on.
"American Railroads, Their Relation to Commercial, Industrial and Agricul-tural Interests," was read, before the International Commercial Congress at Philadelphia, by George H. Daniels, general passenger agent of the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad Company. Following are the most interesting and striking portions of the paper:

"One of our great writers has said of this closing period of the nineteenth century, that it is an age of transporta-

"Transportation" underlies material prosperity in every department of commerce. Without transportation commerce would be impossible.

"Those States and nations are rich. powerful and emlightened whose transportation facilities are best and most extended. The dying nations are those with little or no transportation most extended. The dying nations are those, with little or no transportation facilities.

"In a letter from a friend in Tokio, Japan, written only a short time ago, there was this significant sentence: You will be interested in knowing that I have hanging on the wall of my office a framed picture of your "Empire State Express," and we expect in the near future to be hauling a Japanese "Empire Express" with an American locomotive. They have now in Japan more than one hundred locomotives that were built in the United States. In Russia they have nearly one thousand American locomotives, and practically every rallway in Great Britain has ordered locomotives from this country since the beginning of the war with Spain.

"In this connection it will be interesting to note in passing that the second American locomotive was built at the West Point Foundry, near Gold Spring, on the Hudson River, and was called the Best Friend, and from that day to this the locomotive has been one of the best friends of this republic.

SUPERIOR RAILWAY EQUIPMENT. "But it is not alone our locomotives that have attracted the attention of foreigners who have visited our shores, our railway equipment generally has commanded admiration and is now re-ceiving the highest compliment, namely, imitation by many of our sis ter nations.

"Prince Michel Hilkoff, Imperial
"Prince Michel Hilkoff, Imperial Minister of Railways of Russia, has, since his visit to the United States a few years ago, constructed a train on much the same lines as the 'limited trains' of the New York Central and trains' of the New York Central and the Pennsylvania.

"Only a short time ago, at the request of one of the imperial commissions of Germany, I sent to Berlin photographs of the interior and exterior of our finest cars and other data in relation to the operation of American railways. Several other countries have asked for similar information and there is a general waking up of foreign nations on, the subject of transportation, brought about mainly by the wonderful achievements of American railways.

"The demand for American locomotives from an parts of the world is attributable, in the first place, to the superior quality of our machinery, and in the second place, to the fact that the general passenger agents of the American railways have, through their advertising, made the marvelous results accomplished by our locomotives, household words in every country on the globe. This change in sentiment, which has taken place in the public mind in regard to railroads is the recent election by the Legislature of New, York to the United States Senate of the Hon. Chauncey M. Depew, a man whose whole life has been spent in teclosest association with the transportation interests of the country. This event is especially significant, and marks a new era in the history of our country—an era of better understanding and closer and more amicable rela—cultural and industrial interests and the transportation interests of the United States.

"The Budget of the Russian empire for 1839 discloses the almost incredible efforts in radiway extension that the imperial government of the Czar is putting forth; in this year alone, 199,000,0000 roubles will be devoted entirely to the railways, and during the past twelve years 425,000,000 roubles have been thus expended.

"The immense sums which the Russians are devoting to the extension of their railways entirely overshadow the demands of both the army and navy.

"It is a fact not generally known that the two men who are nearest to the Czar of Russia, and who, perhaps, have a greater influence than any others in shaping the commercial policy of the present government of that great empire are, M. de Witte, the Imperial Minister of Finance, who, sixteen years ago was a station agent at a small town on one of the railways of Russian Poland; the other is Prince Michel Hikoff, who, when little more than a boy, left St. Petersburg to seek his fortune, learned mechanical engineering in the citro of Philadelphia, and who is today the Imperial Minister of Railways of the Russian empire, and a member of the Cabinet of the Czar.

"In a recent address before the Chamber of Commerce of Rochester, N. Y., I cited this illustration of the difference between modern railway transportation, and transportation by terminal processing the state of the great newspaper men of his day, wrote ransportation, and transportation by canal:

'In 1822 Thurlow Weed, one of the great newspaper men of his day, wrote of what is now the city of Rochester, as follows:

'Rochester is a straggling village containing thout half a hundred inhabitants, but it is a go-ahead place, and from its advantages is destined to become an important inland town.

'At that time Rochester's only means of transportation was the Eric Canal, and the difference between the insignificant village of Rochester in 1822 and the magnificent city of Rochester of today, is the difference in its transportation facilities, and this difference is graphically shown by a comparison of the canal packet towed by a mule at the rate of four miles an hour, and the Empire State Express, thundering through the Genesee Valley at a speed of sixty miles an hour.

INFLUENCE OF RAILWAY ADVER-TISING.

TISING.

"American railway management is always alert and ready to take advantage of every opportunity for extending the commerce of the country, and railway men are among the very first to selze upon each coign of vantage. Within a week from the day that the Paris Peace Commission adjourned more than one American railway had ordered the reëngraving of its maps to include the West Indies, the Hawalian Islands and the Philippines. The description of the beauty of our American lakes and valleys, the magnificence of our rivers, the grandeur of our mountains, the fertility of our soil, the wealth of our mineral resources and the superiority of sur manufactures, with which our railroad advertising is filled, has been of incalculable value to the export trade of the United States. It has induced thousands of foreigners to visit every section of our country, who otherwise would never have come here. It has been the means of the investment in the United States of untild millions of foreign capital. It has been one of the strongest aids to the expansion of American commerce in every direction.

MARVELOUS INCREASE IN AMER-ICAN EXPORTS.

MARVELOUS INCREASE IN AMER-ICAN EXPORTS.

The general effect upon our export rade of the increased facilities afforded by American railways is shown in the marvelous increase in our ex-ports, which are now, the largest in our ports, which are now the largest in our history, the increase for the eight months ending with August, 1899, being

"The demand for American locomotives from an parts of the world is attributable, in the first place, to the superior quality of our machinery, and in the second place, to the fact that the general passenger agents of the American railways have, through their advertising, made the marvelqus results accomplished by our locomotives, household words in every country on the globe.

ANAVAL OBJECT LESSON.

"The admiration of foreign nations for us is not by any means confined to railways. One incident that startled the entire world, and directed the attention of thinking people everywhere to American achievements in machinery, was that of the United States battleship 'Oregon,' built at the United States battleship 'Oregon,' built at the United States battleship 'Oregon,' built at the United States' battleship 'Oregon,' built at haustible mines of gold, sliver, lead from and coal, forms almost an empira in itself, will produce this year of 1803 enormous quantitles of each of these minerals, in addition to a magnificent crop of wheat, fruit and vegetables. "Thanks to her railroad facilities, Montana is today the richest copper region in the world.

"Without railroads, Kansas, Nebraska, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Montana, Colorado, California, Oregon and Washington would still be the home of savages.

AMERICAN RAILROAD SERVICE. - "It is beyond question that American railroads today furnish the best service railroads today furnish the best service in the world, at the lowest rates of fare, at the same time paying their employes very much higher wages than are paid for similar service in any other country on the globe.

"In the United States the first-class passenger fares last year averaged 2.14 cents per mile, although on some large railways the average was several miles less than 2 cents per mile; in England the first-class fare for vastly inferior service is 2 cents per mile, but only on certain parliamentary trains.
"In Prussia, the fare is 2.99 cents per mile, and if France, 2.36 cents per mile, and if France, 2.36 cents per mile, "Our passenger cars excel these of foreign contracts."

"Our passenger cars excel those of foreign countries in all that goes to make up the comfort and convenience of a journey.
"Our sleeping and parior car system is vastly superior to theirs; our baggage system is infinitely better than theirs, and arranged upon a much more liberal basis. American railroads carry 150 pounds of baggage free, while the German railroads carry only fifty-five pounds free.
"The lighting of our trains is superb, while the lighting of trains on most foreign lines is wretched.

SOME STRIKING EXAMPES.

SOME STRIKING EXAMPES. "I may be pardoned for citing two examples of what I mean by the unsurexamples of what I mean by the unsurpassed passenger-train facilities of American railways.

"A single locomotive recently hauled a passenger train of sixteen cars, nine of which were sleeping and parlor cars, from New York to Albany, a distance of '143 miles, in three hours and fifteen minutes, which is forty-four miles per hour, and the regular schedule time of this train. The train weighed 1,832,000 pounds, and was 1212 feet—or nearly a quarter of a mile—long.

"The Empire State Express has for years been making the run from New York to Buffalo, 440 miles, in eight hours and fifteen minutes, an-average speed of fifty-three and one-third miles an hour, including four stops—two of them for changing engines—and twenty-eight slow-downs, on account of running through incorporated towns and cities.
"For one stretch of twenty-two miles."

ning through incorporated to the cities.

"For one stretch of twenty-two miles, another of seventeen miles, another of sixteen miles, and another of sixty miles, the regular schedule time is exactly sixty miles an hour. For one stretch of twelve miles it is 63.40 miles an hour. For another stretch of nearly ten miles, it is 64.85 miles an hour.

"The weight of this train is 608,000

These are some of the achievements "These are some of the achievements of American railways in passenger service that have not been approached in any other country on the globe, and in my opinion it is achievements of this character that have made it possible for the United States to expand its commerce with such astounding rapidity.

"The fact that American passenger service attracts the attention of people rapidity.

"The fact that American passenger service attracts the attention of people of every other country who visit our shores is demonstrated by the desire shores is demonstrated by the desire of all foreigners to ride on the Empire State Express—the fastest long-dis-tance train in the world, and the fur-ther desire to examine the magnificent, machines that haul our great trains."

PASADENA.

ANOTHER STEP TOWARD A NEW CITY CHARTER.

Names Suggested for a Committee to Draft the Instrument-Board of Trade and City Trustees in Conference-Proposal to Banish George Moore from the State.

PASADENA, Nov. 1.—[Regular Correspondence.] Another conference of the directors of the Board of Trade and members of the City Council in accordance with the invitation of the latte body, was called for this evening a the Board of Trade rooms. All the directors of the board were on hand, bu only one member of the Council, Mr. Dobbins, was able to be present. The discussion took a wide range. It seemed to be the general conviction that there should be no delay in getting up a new charter to submit to the popple. It having been intimated that the City Council is likely to adopt the suggestion that a committee of three suggestion that a committee of three be appointed to prepare a preliminary draft of a charter, to go before the freeholders, names were canvassed with reference to the make-up of such a committee. It is deemed probable that the Council will select the committee at its next meeting. A strong desire was expressed throughout the discussion that the outlying districts, which are to share in the benefits of municipal ownership of water, may be taken into the corporation under the new charter. Some consideration was given to the probable amount of the bond issue which the city needs to make to carry out the proposed improvements. Every organization in the city, which has taken action on the question, has voted in favor of this policy of municipal expansion. The Twilight club last evening indorsed the Board of Trade's memorial. TO SHIP MOORE.

Banishment from the State is the penalty which it is proposed to neets out to George J. Moore, who pleaded guilty to threatening to kill his wife. Moore was to have been sentenced by the City Recorder this morning, but his dooming was deferred in order to afford his friends time to make wrangement for his deportation if parameters for his deportation if parameters for his deportation if parameters. afford his friends time to make wrangements for his deportation if possible. Moore's record is such that he is regarded as a dangerous character, and it is considered wiser, by the powers that be, to procure his removal from the commonwealth than to send him to jall for a term, and then have him at large again. There is evidence that he has threatened to shoot other Pasadena people, besides his wife, and they are actually afraid of him. He seems to have no control over himself, and it is a matter of history that he put a bullet into his own brother. If his relatives and friends will advance the money to set him up in another State and make it certain that he will never come—back to California, the court tomorrow will give him a ticket-of-leave; otherwise he will go to jall.

BEFORE THE MARSHAL. fice at 5 o'clock this afternoon, according to appointment. They were the quartette whom the police pulled in last night for behaving like hobgoblins on a Halloween celebration. They were kept in the cooler from 11 o'clock till 2 in the morning, and then sent home to their anxious mothers, with an injunction to come down and take their medicine this afternoon. The Marshal gave it to them without any sugar-coating. Their principal offense was a raid on a colored man's chicken-house. They did not do any harm, but they were ready to upset the coop when the Marshal told them today that he had them on his list, and if they were reported in any further devilment, they would be brought before the court. The father of one of the boys called on the police and thanked them for taking such good care of his hopeful last night. The meanest thing done by the young mischief-monkeys of the town, so far as reported, was the wrecking of a man's buggy-top, which they pelted with green oranges.

REFORESTATION.

T. P. Lukens is continuing his experiments with the hickory pine, and is now forcing some of the seeds in a hothouse. He expects to begin his planting on the slopes of the mountains during the present month. Mr. Lukens is confident that the Federal officials of the division of forestry are greatly interested in the forests of Southern California, and are going to do more down here than in any other part of the country, because the need is great, and there is an excellent opportunity to secure immediate results. Two men will be kept at work all winter in the mountains adjacent to Pasadena, cleaning up the débris, which invites fire and devastation.

MOVE ON THE WATER FRONT.

SAN PEDRO, Nov. 1.—[Regular Correspondence.] The City Trustees Tuesday evening expressed an intention to abandon the proposition of a direct right-of-way to the water front and accepted an indirect route. The question has been before the board for more than two years. Proceedings were instituted for the condemnation of First and Fifth streets to the inner harbor. Commissioners were appointed, their report of damages allowed and benefits assessed was filed, and a special tax was levied for the expenses of the opening. For that spurpose there is approximately $3370 lying in the city treasury. At the meeting Tuesday evening, on motion of Trustee McDermott, the City Attorney was instructed to notify Division Superintendent J. A. Muir of the Southern Pacific that the board is ready to accept his proposal concerning the matter. Trustees McDermott, Gilstead and Schulze voted infavor of the motion, and Trustees Mallgren and Weldon voted against it.

The proposition of Muir is addressed to the board under date of April 9 last, and is worded as follows:

THE CLARIFIED WATER.

Mayor Patten voiced the prevailing sentiment today, when he said, discussing the water situation: "I aim glad we have a definite statement from the East Side Water Company, President Parker has simplified matters very much by assuring us that indicial proceedings will be necessary if the city proposes to buy the plant. Some of the managers of the company had been holding out encouragement to the City Council that the property might be acquired without going to law, but now we know where we are at, and can go before the people with the ability to assure them that we did all we could to avoid litigation, but it is forced upon us." LEARNED VISITOR.
The Ruskin Art Club was especially favored yesterday by a visit from Benjamin Ide Wheeler, president of the University of California.

President Wheeler in a most friendly way took part in the lesson, which was upon the sculpture of Stopas, Praxiteles and Lysippos. He described the Hernfes of Praxiteles and its discovery by the German excavators, with whom he had intimate acquaintance: he related the myths of Hermes and of the finding of one of the Hermae and of the finding of one of the Hermae during the preparation of 'the ancient Stadium at Athens for the Olympic games in 1896, at the time of his residence there, in connection with the American school at Athens. The talk was warmly applicated by the members, who were much stimulated by the presence and encouraging words of the eminent Greek scholar and writer.

The lesson was in charge of Mrs. W. A. Driscoli and Mrs. Jean M. Bowers. Among those who discussed the soft jects were Mmes. W. E. Dunn. Francis A. Larkin, A. P. Conrey, J. O. Koeptil, Miss Frances A. Clarke. Miss Elsie Milner and Miss Marie Crowe.

The sculptures studied were those of Ephesos, the Musoleum of Halicarnassos, the Niobe group by Skopas, the leaning figures of Praxiteles, the Satyr. Apollo, Saurektones, and his Aphrodites of Knidos and Kos, Lysippos, the Apoxomenos and Alexandrine portraits.
